

SCHOOL OF ART AND ARTISTS' RESIDENCY

professional artists' residencies application

APPLICATION DEADLINE: AUGUST 15, 2006

Two to five week residencies from September 9-October 13, 2006

Ox-Bow is pleased to announce it's inaugural fall residency program for Professional Artists' in Residence. For the first time, PARs are able to live and work on the Ox-Bow campus for an extended period (2-5 weeks). The Fall PAR program will be subsidized, lowering the cost for PARs to just $100 per week (includes room and board, as well as meals, and studio use).

The Professional Artist in Residence program (PAR) is designed to offer professional and emerging artists the time, solitude, and focus often unavailable to so many working artists. At Ox-Bow, PARs can enjoy 24-hour access to their studios, and an inspirational setting, free from the expectations of commercial and academic demands. Painting, Drawing, and Writing PARs will work in the Lutz Studio, Ox-Bow's new group studio building that can accommodate 4-6 artists at a time. PARs working in Print, Ceramics, and Metals will work alongside their fellow PARs in the Print, Ceramics, and Metals studios.

Because Ox-Bow is rooted in a sense of community, we invite all PARs to give a slide lecture to the local community of Saugatuck and Douglas. Additionally, we invite all PARs to either work with the Ox-Bow staff in exhibiting their work in the Ox-Bow gallery, or to participate in a group show held in November at a local gallery.

Cost: $100 per week (includes room and board and use of studios). PARs must bring their own supplies (inks and paper for Print, clay and glazes for Ceramics, etc). Meals are also included in the cost. When classes are in session, PARs will eat with the student body. Outside of class times, a local Chef will supply meals for residents. Residency weeks run from Saturday at noon until Friday at noon.

Please check the weeks that you would like to stay as a PAR:

- September 9- September 15 (week 1)
